

Argumentative Writing

Name: _____

Date: _____

Grade: Grade 5

Part A: Multiple Choice

Circle the best answer for each question.

1. You are writing an argument that schools should teach coding. Which opening claim is most effective?

- A) Coding is cool and everyone should learn it.
- B) Schools should add coding to the curriculum because technology jobs are growing 25% faster than other careers.
- C) I like coding, so my school should teach it.
- D) Some schools teach coding and some do not.

2. After stating the claim 'Field trips improve learning,' which sentence should come NEXT in a well-organized argument?

- A) In conclusion, field trips are beneficial for all students.
- B) Some people think field trips waste class time.
- C) One reason is that hands-on experiences help students remember information 50% longer than textbook reading.
- D) Field trips are fun and students enjoy them a lot.

3. A classmate writes: 'We need a school store. First, it teaches money skills. Second, profits fund art supplies. However, some worry it distracts from class.' What is missing from this argument?

- A) A personal story about shopping.
- B) A response to the counterargument and a conclusion.
- C) More opinions about why school stores are great.
- D) A list of items the store would sell.

4. Which revision BEST strengthens the weak reason 'Recycling is good because it helps'?

- A) Recycling is good because it really, truly helps the environment a lot.
- B) Recycling reduces landfill waste by up to 30%, which protects soil and water from harmful chemicals.
- C) Recycling is helpful because my teacher said so.
- D) Recycling helps because everyone knows it does.

Part B: Fill in the Blank

Write the correct answer on each line.

1. The first step in building an argument is choosing a clear and debatable _____.
2. Each reason in an argument should be supported by at least one piece of _____.
3. A well-organized argument presents reasons in order from good to _____, saving the most _____.

Part A: Multiple Choice

Circle the best answer for each question.

1. You are writing an argument that schools should teach coding. Which opening claim is most effective?

- A) Coding is cool and everyone should learn it.
- B) Schools should add coding to the curriculum because technology jobs are growing 25% faster than other careers.
- C) I like coding, so my school should teach it.
- D) Some schools teach coding and some do not.

2. After stating the claim 'Field trips improve learning,' which sentence should come NEXT in a well-organized argument?

- A) In conclusion, field trips are beneficial for all students.
- B) Some people think field trips waste class time.
- C) One reason is that hands-on experiences help students remember information 50% longer than textbook reading.
- D) Field trips are fun and students enjoy them a lot.

3. A classmate writes: 'We need a school store. First, it teaches money skills. Second, profits fund art supplies. However, some worry it distracts from class.' What is missing from this argument?

- A) A personal story about shopping.
- B) A response to the counterargument and a conclusion.
- C) More opinions about why school stores are great.
- D) A list of items the store would sell.

4. Which revision BEST strengthens the weak reason 'Recycling is good because it helps'?

- A) Recycling is good because it really, truly helps the environment a lot.
- B) Recycling reduces landfill waste by up to 30%, which protects soil and water from harmful chemicals.
- C) Recycling is helpful because my teacher said so.
- D) Recycling helps because everyone knows it does.

Part B: Fill in the Blank

Write the correct answer on each line.

1. The first step in building an argument is choosing a clear and debatable claim .
2. Each reason in an argument should be supported by at least one piece of evidence .
3. A well-organized argument presents reasons in order from good to best , saving the most convincing point for last.